FROM EAR TO EAR

Was the Way Zack White Cut
Will Riley's Throat.

Saturday night a difficulty occurred between two negroes, Zack White, an ex-convict, and Will Riley, a brick moulder in the employ of Messrs. Cryer & Co., in which White used a knife with deadly effect. It seems that White had been making his home with a woman by the name of Cynthia Thomas, who lives at the foot of High street, near the Fort Hill, and Riley had been paying the woman some attention which aroused White's jealousy and on going to the house Saturday night he found Riley and the woman standing at the gate. She went into the house at his approach and in a little while loud talking was heard when some of the Thomas woman's family went to the door and found Riley lying upon the ground with his throat cut and several stabs in his face. He lived only a few minutes after. White disappeared as soon as he committed the deed and has not since been heard of.

The murdered man lived in Louisville and had been working here but a short time. He was considered a quiet, hard-working man.

Council Proceedings.

ADJOURNED MEETING.

Tuesday Sept. 26, '93.

All the members of the council were present except Councilman Gray.

The property of Mrs. Jerry Downing was ordered listed in her name instead of the name of Mr. Jerry Downing.

Petition was received from Thos. Brightwell for a grocery license on East Main street. Referred to license committee.

Petition of F. M. Caldwell asking a reduction on his rent for the ground on which the Blue Booth is located. Referred to bridge committee.

Henry Penn, of color, appeared before the council and asked to be placed on the pauper list at $3 per month. His prayer was granted and he was allowed the above amount for this month and regularly hereafter.

Petition of citizens asking a remission of the fine of Henry Harris, colored, was referred to the work-house committee.

Mr. George Huffman appeared before the council and asked a rebate on his taxes. The council having acted on the matter refused to take further action in the premises.

The resolution directing James Heeney and James Norrell to make new pavements on Shelby street, north of Second, was read a second time and passed.

The ordinance in relation to the two water mains on the bridge was read a second time and amended, requiring the company, in consideration of the above grant, to furnish water for four hydrants or fountains. The ordinance was referred back to the joint committee on bridge to be reported at the next meeting.

Mr. Swigert moved that the City Engineers have the Workhouse hands make some needed repairs on the Ewing street bridge on the South Side. Adopted.

Mr. McClure moved that the citizens having fences on the street on Wilkinson street between Mero and the point of the hill be required to move them within 10 days. Adopted.

Mr. J. N. Miles, from the ordinance committee, offered an ordinance requiring a number of people to make new pavements on the South Side within 30 days. The ordinance was adopted.

The same committee reported in favor of having a number of people repair their sidewalks on the South Side. This ordinance was also adopted.

The finance committee made a report in relation to tax rebates, which was concurred in by the council, and they were granted further time on several matters.

The ordinance in relation to the Electric Street Railway Company was postponed until the next meeting.

Mr. J. E. Miles moved that the saloon license of Fielding Lewis be revoked. Adopted.

October the 10th was fixed as the day for the additional registration for the city election.

The Mayor and Council received an invitation from Messrs. Bercaw

& Parker to attend and occupy a box at the Opéra House Saturday night. Ch'm. Milam had the invitation read a second time and by unanimous consent the above gentlemen were tendered a vote of thanks.

The council then adjourned until last night.

MAKE THE BRIDGE FREE.

A Public Meeting Monday to Consider the Matter.

The citizens of the city and county are requested to meet at the Court-house at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon to take action in regard to making the L. & N. Railroad bridge free from toll. It is understood that the railroad company is willing to allow the bridge to be flooded by the county, if it wishes to make it a free bridge, and the object of the meeting is to devise means to raise the money necessary to defray the expense. Everyone interested should attend.

Handy as a Pocket in a Shirt.

Dr. W. E. Baxter is an inventive genius and can make almost anything he desires. His latest contrivance is a combination box and table for the use of fishing and camping parties. It is made of five boards hinged together, which fold around two end pieces, and are held in position by a series of hooks and screweyes, forming a box two feet long, by nine inches broad and six inches deep, which can be carried in the hand by means of a shawl strap or will fit under the seat of a buggy. Six tin plates, half a dozen tin coffee cups, coffee pot and numerous other articles can be packed away in it, and when camp is reached and every thing unpacked, the folding parts of the box are unhooked from the end pieces, spread out, iron stays placed across them and hooked down, so as to render them rigid. The stays in turn are screwed to the stand of a music rack and the box becomes a first rate card or dining table. The stays and stand also fold up and are stowed away in the box when camp is broken.

Dr. Baxter will probably take out a patent on the arrangement as soon as he gets a camp dining outfit made to fit in the box conveniently.

Elected Representatives.

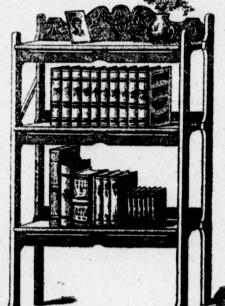

At the meeting of the Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., held on Monday evening, Past Grands W. B. Bridgeford, C. W. Merchant and C. A. Nelson were elected delegates to represent the Lodge in the Grand Lodge of Kentucky which meets in Lexington on Tuesday week.

"Anderson's Jolly Old Chums" or "Two Old Cronies up to Date."

A new version of an old success will open the season at the Opera House Saturday night, Sept. 30. The piece is described as a musical farce comedy extravaganza, and is said to be beyond the fate of legitimate criticism, but constructed solely for the purpose of creating laughter, and to cause the people to imagine that life is worth living. It is a whirlwind of fun from first to last, and sends the audience home satisfied with having been greatly amused. As a cure for insomnia, it is a great success.

Dan Mason and Dan Kelly are the "Jolly Old Chums" whose misfortunes are numerous, and the many side-splitting mishaps that occur to them forms the hub around which the wheel of comedy whirls. Sadie Stringham, an excellent character artist, who essayed Mr. Neil Burgess' part in the "County Fair" one season, is the giddy blushing old maid whose frantic efforts to cause some one to love her form one of the most grotesquely ludicrous characters in the entire realm of farce comedy. Pretty girls and clever singers and dancers form the balance of the company, whose efforts must be seen to be appreciated.

This is not the same company that played in Louisville.

Why She Sleeps Alone.

"Won't you please tell me the reason why you always go out to do your errands yourself?" said a rather inquisitive lady to her friend. "I know you have a bright, sociable disposition, but I have observed that you never invite anybody to go shopping, and rarely walk on the street in company with any one. Does it just happen so, or have you a reason for it?"

"Yes," said her friend, "I have a reason for it, and a very good one. My lungs are a trifle weak, and my throat is very sensitive, and I used to notice that after I had been out on the street chatting for any length of time I suffered serious inconvenience for some hours at least. I began to reflect on the subject, and soon satisfied myself that the dust from the street affected me unpleasantly, and the more I thought about it the better satisfied I became that there was really an excellent reason for keeping the mouth closed while on the street. The air is necessarily full of pulverized animal and vegetable matter, which is constantly being drawn in with the breath. If any disease germs are floating about, one is much more sure of keeping them out of the system if the mouth is closed. Nature has provided the nostrils as a sort of screen through which the larger particles of dust cannot readily pass."—New York Ledger.

Complete Letter Writers.

Manuals of correspondence or "complete letter writers" are dangerous things to depend upon. Not many years ago a young man who wished to win the hand of a young lady pondered long over the proper and most effective way of addressing her.

At last he found, in a manual of somewhat wide circulation, a form for a letter which pleased him very much. It seemed to express his sentiment exactly. The letter bore the title:

"From a young gentleman to a young lady, making an ardent but dignified offer of marriage."

He copied out the letter, signed it with his name, and sent it to the lady.

After some days of anxious waiting he received a letter with the superscription and postmark of which indicated surely that it came from the young lady. He tore open the envelope eagerly and read:

"Turn over the leaf in your manual; you will find my answer at the top of the opposite page."

He seized his manual, and in the place indicated found a brief and sharply formal letter, entitled:

"From a young lady to a gentleman, peremptorily refusing an offer of marriage."

She was the possessor of a copy of the same manual!—Her Companion.

The Color Question.
Little boy Sterling, 5 years old, was recently having his hair done up for the night. He was restless during the operation, and his nurse tried to interest him by speaking of the colored water which had come that day.

"He looks as neat as a new pin, in his white jacket and apron," said she.

"Yes," responded Sterling, "neat as a new black pin."—Kate Field's Washington.

The value of the purses given by the Ontario Jockey club, of Canada, increased from $3,750 in 1885 to $13,770 in 1891.

During the season of 1891 the 2-year-old Sirrus defeated twenty-five different 2-year-olds, with records from 2:23 upward.

The French government spends $18,000,000 per year on its public highways, but their horses draw a ton and a third without trouble.

In Belgium, Germany and Italy, where the horses kept good, one horse can do as much service as three in the bad road districts of America.

ANOTHER OLD CITIZEN GONE.

Mr. A. W. Cromwell Meets With an Accident Which Causes His Death.

Monday afternoon Mr. A. W. Cromwell, who lived on the Versailles pike, drove over to his farm on the L. & N. railroad, about a mile and a half west of the city, and while walking about on the place where some work men were about to open a quarry, he stepped upon a slick stone, lost his footing and fell, breaking the bone of his left thigh near the hip joint. Thinking he was not much hurt, he got a colored man to assist him into his road car and drove home. Just before he reached his gate he met a neighbor and asked him to go home with him and help him out, but when the attempt was made to remove him from the vehicle it was necessary to place him upon a sheet, obtain other assistance and carry him into the house. Dr. S. E. James was summoned and reduced the fracture, and Mr. Cromwell seemed to be doing well, as he suffered no pain, and it was hoped that his splendid constitution would pull him through, notwithstanding his age, but on Wednesday it became apparent that the shock had caused paralysis of the bowels, and that there was no hope. He lingered until Thursday morning about 5 o'clock, when he passed away so gently that those who watched by his side were not aware he was dying until almost his last breath.

The deceased was born in Fayette county in March, 1813, and consequently was in his 81st year. His youth was spent upon his father's farm near Greendale, but in early manhood he went to Lexington and learned the carpenter's trade and worked for fifteen years with the late John McMurtry, of that city. During his residence in Lexington he was married to Miss Annie McClain, who died in a few years, leaving him three children, only one of whom, a daughter, lived to be grown, and she, too, preceded him to the grave some twenty years ago.

After the death of his wife he came to this county to reside and commenced farming, which business he continued to the time of his death. Shortly after removing to this county he was again married to Miss Sidney Jett, with whom he enjoyed more than thirty years of happy wedded life. She died in May, 1892. The fruit of this marriage was four children—Mr. William Cromwell and Misses Florence and Lou. B. Cromwell, of this county, and Mr. John C. Cromwell, of Joliet, Illinois—who together with two sisters and two brothers—Mrs. Carrie Jett, of this city, Mr. M. H. Cromwell, of this county, Mrs. N. A. Montague, of Independence, Missouri, and Mr. Oliver Cromwell, of California—survive to mourn his loss.

He was of a gentle, amiable disposition, strictly honest and upright in his dealings, a kind and affectionate husband and father and a good citizen. For nearly thirty years he had been a member of the Christian Church and has reaped the Christian's reward.

The funeral took place from his late residence yesterday afternoon at three o'clock and the remains were interred in the cemetery here.

of the diseases to which it is adapted with the best results. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a family medicine, comprehensive in its scope, has never been thrust upon public attention in the guise of a universal panacea for bodily ill. This claim, duly arrogated in the claims of all quacks, and the employment of medicines far inferior to it as specifics, has in a thousand instances disgusted the public mind, and the result has been that many and other remedies of superior qualities have been handicapped by the pretensions of their worthiness. The result is that the common man knows, because they have verified the fact by the most trying tests, that the bitters are the virtuous, true and safe remedy for a case of material and liver disorder, constipation, nervous, rheumatic, stomach and alimentary trouble, which gives a decided advantage, mainly for this reason it is endorsed and recommended by hosts of respectable medical men.

Circuit Court.

On Monday the criminal docket was again taken up and Otto Schmidt, who stole an overcoat from Kagan's restaurant, was given one year in the penitentiary.

Harry Minor, the negro who broke into Chas. Hahn's grocery on the Versailles pike, received a two year's sentence in the pen.

The trial of the case of Ed. Spalding, charged with rape, was commenced Monday but was not concluded until Tuesday morning, and when given to the jury they failed to agree.

John Kinkead, charge with assault upon his brother Tom, was fined $22.50, which he will work out in the work-house unless able to repley.

Charles Dailey, for assaulting his wife, was fined $50.

The grand jury adjourned Tuesday after finding forty-one indictments. In concluding their labors they made the following report:

The grand jury in session at the September term of the Franklin County Circuit Court, being about to adjourn, desire to make the following report to his honor, the judge presiding.

We have diligently inquired into all cases of violations of law, such as have been brought to our notice, and have from time to time returned such indictments as the evidence in each respective case would seem to justify.

We desire furthermore to say that we believe the County of Franklin and City of Frankfort, have lost none of their former prestige, as the hospitable and intellectual center of this great Commonwealth, and that as law-abiding citizens we stand a community whose record will compare favorably with any city or community of the State.

We also report that we have visited the jail and find it in order kept by its present keeper, a man conscientious in the discharge of his duties.

We find the county offices have been undergoing repairs, retouched with paint, and all the surrounding of the court-house in a neat and tasty condition, which together with the street railway, electric light plant, electric motor power, new railroad and county bridges, give evidence of renewed life since the vexed capital removal question has been forever settled.

We have also visited the workhouse and find it in as neat condition as the character of the inmates would reasonably permit.

We also visited the State Penitentiary of which the Sinking Fund Commissioners are now the factotum and find it in its usual neat condition. The prisoners are well fed with good wholesome food. We found but few sick in the hospital which speaks well for its sanitary condition.

We rejoice to know that arrangements are being perfected whereby this large force of idlers are to be put to work so as to make this institution for the punishment of crime self-sustaining, thereby lifting the heavy burden of $10,000 per month it takes to sustain it from the already burdened tax-payers. We believe that the management of this institution should no longer be in the hands of politicians, but that the State's interests would be better subserved by having a commission of discreet business men, not politicians appointed by the Governor or selected by the Legislature. All of which in this somewhat lengthy report, we respectfully submit.

The Ninety Days Out.

It will be ninety days to-morrow since the Legislature adjourned and all the laws passed by that body without the emergency clause go into effect, the separate coach law being the most important of the lot. The prominent colored people of the State have been making extensive preparations to fight the law and the question of its legality will be taken to the Court of Appeals as soon as possible. Able counsel has been retained to look after the matter in the courts.

FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, SEPTEMBER 30, 1893.

Birthday Party.

Saturday, on his fourth birthday, John VanDerveer Walcutt gave a party to his little friends at "Windy Side," the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Walcutt. There were fifty children, and half as many nurses and mothers present to enjoy the afternoon, which was spent in all kinds of outdoor and indoor amusements. The children were then taken to the dining room and seated at kindergarten tables at which they ate heartily of the refreshments prepared for them. Before the guests departed for their homes they were placed in a group in front of the house and photographed by Mr. W. S. Saffell. The bright, happy faces of the little ones made a beautiful picture which as a souvenir will long serve to recall the hospitable little host and the entertainment.

A Great Benefactor.

"Educators are certainly the greatest benefactors of the race, and after reading Dr. Franklin Miles' popular works, we cannot help declaring him to be among the most successful and most valuable educators,"—New York Daily. "He is not a stranger to our readers, as his advertisements appear in our columns in every issue, calling attention to the fact that his famous work 'Nervine & Heart Disease' is distributed free by our enterprising druggist, J. W. Gayle. Trial bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine are given away also a book of testimonials showing that it is unequalled for nervous prostration, headache, poor memory, insomnia, sleeplessness, neuralgia, hysteria, fits, epilepsy, etc.

Manual Training.

When a mechanic attempts to teach he tries to have his pupil acquire skill in handling tools, and information as to the material he works upon, paying no attention to the principles upon which the tool is constructed, nor to those involved in the use of a tool, next to the mental effect of the use of a tool upon the one using it. Even when thus favored if he were to take a course in a Normal school his effort to teach would be much more effective.

To insure success in manual training requires that the teacher knows the action of the human mind. This can be acquired only by making a special study of mind. By observing the action of his own mind as well as the actions of the minds of others a teacher may learn much. The study of mental activity will be more valuable to him if pursued under the direction of a competent teacher. Without such special training the teacher of manual training can have no higher aim than that of the skillful mechanic. He is teacher in name only, for the reason that such knowledge is one of the most essential qualifications of a teacher.

Besides this qualification the teacher must be intimately acquainted with the art of constructing in various materials, and of the art of representing intelligibly, by means of drawing, the form of the object to be constructed. To give the pupil a comprehensive grasp of things surrounding him the teacher must have a more comprehensive grasp of those things. Now, through lack of time the teacher can not teach all he knows to his pupils, therefore, he must be able to select from the great mass of constructive problems such as are the best to use in arranging a course of exercises which shall be coherent, logical, and which shall produce the desired mental effect. The powers of the mind are to be stimulated, cultivated, developed, strengthened. Mental power is the center of the target toward which the true teacher aims in every study included in the school curriculum.

Another essential qualification of the teacher is familiarity with the methods of teaching. The methods of teaching are two in number and may be classed as method of culture or the way to develop mind, and method of instruction, or the way to put knowledge into the mind. These methods are not separable in practice, they are interdependent. Mental power is developed through instruction. Instruction in former days almost entirely ignored the practical. To-day the practical is made use of along with the theoretical as an educational factor. The manual training department is the complement of the school. A fence rail is a valuable assistant in lifting a wheel from a rut when the wagon is stuck. Arithmetic and geography cultivate mind and furnish it with instruction. This gives them their high value as educational levers.

Instruction may be given in two ways, by putting knowledge into the mind and by drawing knowledge from the mind. The judicious teacher of manual training will use both these processes, paying special attention to the drawing out process. The drawing out process permits the pupil first to tell what he knows about the subject under consideration, second, to find out all he can from friends, from books and from experiment conducted under the supervision of the teacher. Lastly, the teacher should communicate such knowledge as is adapted to the pupil, and is appropriate to the subject.

Our next article will contain a lesson given on presenting a tool for the first time to a class of young pupils.

Strong Witnesses.

Among the thousands of testimonies of cures by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, is that of Nathan Allison, a well-known citizen of Glen Rock, Pa., who for years had shortness of breath, sleeplessness, pain in left side, shortness of breath, etc. He had taken one bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and one box of Nerve and Liver Pills, cured him. Peter Jaquet, Salem, N. J., is another witness, who twenty years suffered with heart disease, was pronounced incurable by physician; death stared him in the face, could not lie down for fear of smothering to death. Immediately after using the New Cure he felt better and could lie down and sleep all night, and is now a well man. The New Cure is sold, also a free book, by J. W. Gayle.

The Old Veterans.

Almost every ex-Confederate soldier in this county attended the annual re-union of the Orphan Brigade in Versailles Wednesday and Thursday, and every one returned delighted with the treatment they received. The attendance was much larger than usual and the entertainment all they could have wished for. Every annual coming together of these grey-haired veterans shows that many have crossed the dark river and that their ranks are being rapidly thinned. Soon there will be few left to tell the tale of their valor, privation and suffering.

Attendance at the Public Schools.

Yesterday closed the first month of the school year, and the following statistics of enrollment for the month are furnished by Prof Mc-Henry Rhoads, the Superintendent:

WHITE SCHOOLS.

High School	122
Grades	633
West End	47
Total	802
Colored Schools	424
Total enrollment in City Schools	1226

This is an increase over last year. The manual training department is opening up all right for good work, and all in the current year bids fair to be the most prosperous in the history of the schools.

Clark-Strode.

A special dispatch from Winchester to the Louisville Times of Thursday announces the marriage of Mr. Vernon L. Clark, of this city, to Miss Kate Strode, of Clark county, which will take place at Winchester on the 25th of October next. The many friends of the groom, who is one of the most popular young men who ever made this city their home, as well as one of our most successful business men, will congratulate him on his approaching happiness.

The Trotting Meeting.

The meeting of the Franklin County Trotting Association, held at the track of Mr. R. C. Church, Forks of Elkhorn, on Tuesday, was a very successful affair. The attendance was good, the races well contested and the time made very fair. All three of the prizes offered by Hannen & Hursey were captured by Messrs. S. Black & Son—they taking the $100 set of hand-made harness with Antonio Wilkes, time 2:33½, the $50 set of harness with Benoni, time 2:24¾, and the lap robe with Fulton, time 2:38¾.

Consul Hunt.

"Mississippi was remembered handsomely to-day in the distribution of favors, the nomination of Mr. William H. Hunt having been made to the Hong Kong and Canton, China. This place pays, with salary and fees, close on $10,000 a year. It has been filled by many distinguished men, including within the past fifteen years Col. John S. Mosby, the famous Confederate General, and Hunt's son-in-law, Withers of Virginia. Mr. Hunt is a prominent Democrat, and has taken an active interest in politics."

The above notice, taken from the Appeal-Avalanche, will be read with interest by our readers. Consul Hunt was first notified of his good fortune by a telegram from Hon. T. C. Cathings, and the community of Greenville was already apprised of the news. While congratulating Captain Hunt, his friends are constrained to say that he has compensated them themselves for his loss. Such men are rare, and their value is not fully realized until it is withdrawn.

For many years Washington county has been accustomed to follow Captain Hunt in its local elections, and citizen and public man whose record is absolutely blameless; as a gentleman whose standard of honor has never been lowered an inch from the highest place, and whose course in private life is one for old men to follow, and young men to emulate. The loss, even temporarily, of such a man is a matter for public regret, but the place to which he is called is one of honor and emolument; and recognizing his eminent worth and fitness, his friends will forget, as shall his countrymen, in the pursuit of kindred preferment has fallen upon one so signalily deserving.—Greenville (Miss.) Times.

Capt. Hunt is the son of the late Mrs. Prudence B. Hunt, of this city, and his many warm friends here can heartily endorse the above complimentary notices. He is a citizen that any State may be proud of at any court. The mission to Hong Kong is an elegant one—the capital, a beautiful English city, where cultured people of all the Governments reside. Capt. Hunt will be the only representative of the United States there.

Among the many callers upon the Captain to congratulate him upon his new honor, was a Chinese lawyer in Greenville. He spoke glowingly of the Island, and the capital, and concluded—"you will be one big man there."

Capt. Hunt will sail for Hong Kong before long, taking with him his accomplished daughter, Miss Virginia, as his secretary. His wife and the younger children will spend the winter here with her mother, Mrs. Virginia Crittenden, and follow him in the spring to Hong Kong.
